PUBLIC REPORT
OF A POLICEMAN.

I have not enjoyed good health for several years past, yet have not allowed it to interfere with my labor. Every one belonging to the laboring class knows the inconvenience of being obliged to labor when the body, from debility, almost refuses to perform its daily task. I never was a believer in dosing with medicines; but having heard the VEGETINE spoken of so highly, was determined to try it, and shall never regret that determination. As a tonic (which every one needs at some time) it surpasses anything I ever heard of. It invigorates the whole system; it is a great cleanser and purifier of the blood. There are many of my acquaintances who have taken it, and all unite in praise of its satisfactory effect.

Especially among the aged class of people, it imparts to them the one thing most needful in old age—nights of calm, quiet repose, thereby strengthening the mind as well as the body. One aged lady, who has been suffering through life from scrofula, and has in consequence been blind from its effects, having tried many remedies with no favorable result, was induced by friends to try the VEGETINE. After taking a few bottles, she obtained such great relief that she expressed a wish for her sight, that she might be able to look upon the man who had sent her such a blessing.

Yours respectfully,
O. P. H. HODGE, Police Officer, Station 6,
Boston, Mass., May 5, 1871.

HEARTFELT PRAYER.
St. Paul, Aug. 22, 1864.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—I should be wanting in gratitude, if I failed to acknowledge what the VEGETINE has done for me. I was attacked about eleven months since with Bronchitis, which settled into Consumption. I had night sweats and fever chills; was distressed for breath, and frequently spit blood; was all emaciated, very weak, and so low that my friends thought my case hopeless.

I was advised to make a trial of the VEGETINE, which, under the providence of God, has cured me. That he may bless the use of your medicine to others, as he has to me, and that his divine grace may attend you, is the heartfelt prayer of your admiring, humble servant, BENJAMIN PETTENGILL.

P. S.—Mine is but one among the many cures your medicine has effected in this place. B. P.

MAKE IT PUBLIC.
South Boston, Feb. 9, 1871

H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.:

Dear Sir—I have heard from very many sources of the great success of VEGETINE in cases of Scrofula, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, Catarrh, and other diseases of kindred nature. I make no hesitation in saying that I know VEGETINE to be the most reliable remedy for Catarrh and General Debility.

My wife has been troubled with Catarrh for many years, and at times very badly. She has thoroughly tried every supposed remedy that we could hear of, and with all this she has for several years been gradually growing worse, and the discharge from the head was excessive and very offensive.

She was in this condition when she commenced to take VEGETINE; I could see that she was improving on the second bottle. She continued taking the VEGETINE until she had used from twelve to fifteen bottles. I am now happy in informing you and the public (if you choose to make it public) that she is entirely cured, and VEGETINE accomplished the cure after nothing else would. Hence I feel justified in saying that VEGETINE is the most reliable remedy, and would advise all suffering humanity to try it, for I believe it to be a good, honest, vegetable medicine, and I shall not hesitate to recommend it.

I am, &c., respectfully,
L. C. CARDELL,
Store 451 Broadway.

VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cleanses and cures ulceration, cures constipation and regulates the bowels.

Has Entirely Cured Me.
Boston, October, 1870.

MR. STEVENS,:

Dear Sir—My daughter, after having a severe attack of whooping cough, was left in a feeble state of health. Being advised by a friend she tried the VEGETINE and after taking a few bottles was fully restored to health.

I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism. I have taken several bottles of the VEGETINE for this complaint, and am happy to say it has entirely cured me. I have recommended the VEGETINE to others, with the same good results. It is a great cleanser and purifier of the blood; it is pleasant to take; and I can cheerfully recommend it.

The Green Pocket Book.

He took up a newspaper, but the letters danced before his eyes, and before long he had pulled the green book out again and was re-reading the journal. An odd excitement stirred his pulse. For a good many years—in fact, since the age of nineteen, when his first love jilted him—he had counted himself a determined old bachelor, and having no mother or sister, had drifted out of the way of womankind and their interests. "Flossy's" simple record seemed to bring him back to this forgotten world. It was as if a girl had sat down by his side and whispered her secrets in his ear. Visions of a sweet tired face behind a counter, of appealing blue eyes (he was certain they must be blue), of a veil of some light hair (hair to match the eyes), swept over him, and all his knighthood was roused. Find her he must, and help her; but how? Never did search seem more unpromisingly devoid of clew.

To advertise was, of course, his first thought. "Found, a small green pocket-book," appeared next day among the "personals" in the Herald, and was reiterated so many times thereafter as to become, as it were, a permanent feature of the paper. A singular rage for shopping seized John. Every afternoon, leaving his office early, he betook himself to this amusement, choosing always those shops where women were employed. No bride elect, with a trousseau to buy, ever went into the business more determinedly. Long stairs daunted him not; he penetrated to third stories, to fourth, even to those mysterious topmost regions where "ladies' outfitting" is attended to. Everywhere he questioned, "Have you among your employees a young lady named Florence? I have accidentally come into possession of an article belonging to her which I am anxious to return."

But no one answered the advertisement; and, though more than one Florence turned up in the shops, they were not the one; they had no connection with the little green pocketbook.

So May passed, and June and July, and when August drew on, and the city became a great focus of baking walls and evil savour, our friend, tough and active as he was, began to feel need of change. "Flossy's" words haunted him. "The long, cool roll and the swash, the gulls diving and plunging in the spray;" they filled him with longing for the sea. He resolved on a vacation; and one sultry evening, after an hour's bumping on the railway, and a farther jolt in a country wagon, he found himself at Oriental Point on the Long Island shore, a spot which had rejoiced in the name of Clam Cove until a recent rechristening at the hands of local speculators, whose imagination, fired by the completion of the branch railroad, had jumped forward to anticipated hotels and a crowd of metropolitan "boarders." Both hotels and crowd were happily non-existent so far, and the sylvan quiet of Clam Cove still brooded over Oriental Point. The red farm houses scattered along the beach sufficed for the few strangers who had found out the place, and in one of these Mr. Singleton and his knapsack were received and welcomed with a hearty country hospitality which it was to be feared would disappear with the nearer approach of the ubiquitous steam whistle.

Two days of basking in sun and salt, two nights of cool and freshness, made a new man. Utterly content and utterly lazy, he felt indisposed for everything but to lie under the shade of rocks, watch the water come and go and nap and dream.

It was on the fourth day of this oyster-like existence that he roused from a dozing reverie at the sound of voices speaking near. Some ladies had seated themselves just below him. One, dressed in mourning seemed an invalid. The other had dark red-brown hair streaming down over a cool looking white and black dress. She was reading aloud Lowell's little poem, "Sea Weed." John caught the words distinctly.

"I wonder what that means exactly?" she said as she finished.

"It is very graceful—"

"Yes, but it's puzzling, too—a fascinating puzzle. I'm always wondering if Mr. Lowell, when he wrote it, meant the same thing which I fancy he meant. It quite teases me."

"And yet you like it so much!"

"Oh, that's the very reason. I like to be teased and set to thinking. Alice, are you warm enough?"

John pricked up his ears. But this girl has dark hair.

"Thanks—yes, I'm almost warm enough. Still, you might fetch the gray shawl, Marion, if you don't mind."

John caught a glimpse of the girl's face as she came back with the shawl; a fresh, pleasant face, with eyes of the same red brown as the hair. She saw him, too, and the sisters lowered their voices. He did not hear another word after that.

Two days later his landlady met him with a troubled countenance.

"I'm so sorry!" she began. "It's just as sudden on me's on you but my daughter she's written that she and the children must come home for a spell 'cause the youngest's had cholera infantede and the doctor he says they must get away's fast's they can and it's too bad to turn you out but I don't see no other way to fix it and if you don't mind, Elkins next door has a room free every bit like the one you're in now and Almiry shall carry over your things and you'll be every bit as comfortable and I hope you'll have no hard feeling about it." All this in a breath, and without audible punctuation.

John comforted the good dame, whose face was full of trouble. After all, what did it matter? "Almiry" lent a hand, and in two hours he was seated in Mrs. Elkins' front room, "every whit as comfortable" as he had been in his old quarters.

Going down to dinner, the red-brown eyes which he had noticed on the beach confronted him.

"It's the Miss Whittemores, Mr.—I don't recall your name," remarked Mrs. Elkins, spooning out her steaming chowder. And in this unceremonious way the introduction was effected.

Intimacies ripen fast under such circumstances. Rowing, sailing and walking together, spending whole days and day after day in company, it was no wonder that before long the three so lately strangers should become as old friends. It was easy to know the Misses Whittemore, they were so frank and simple, so pleasantly well-bred. Alice, the eldest, a gentle, womanly creature, quiet in speech and manner, and full of a certain sweet common sense, was evidently the object of fondest care to the brown-eyed Marion. John had never known any girls like them. It was a revelation of the pleasant possibilities of life to be in such contact. Still his shyness and old habit of distrust hampered and held him back. "What man ever understood a woman?" he asked himself. "I don't pretend to. 'Flossy,' indeed! I did have a real glimpse of her in that blessed little book! Now if some fairy would just open a door and let me see the inside of Marion's heart. In the same way, then I should know where I was."

Marion! Yes, the imaginary Flossy was dethroned; the real Marion reigned in her stead. John, however, was still unconscious

THE DAY.

The Rev. C. H. Payne D. D., formerly of the Providence conference of the Methodist Episcopal church and well known to many of our readers, has been elected president of the Ohio Wesleyan University, the largest and most prominent institution of learning in that state.

We have been cordially invited to change our views about Mr. Beecher, and controvert an article in this paper of Saturday, and lest we should find it difficult to change front on this subject in three days a correspondent who is suffering from an acute attack of Beechermania has sent us a long letter containing little except repeated assertions of entire confidence in the great defendant. If peoples' mental constitutions are such that they have more respect for him now than before the trial it is fortunate for him. Unfortunately for him such persons are very rare outside of Plymouth church, so far as we are able to judge. We have referred to this letter only because the writer assumes that Beecher has been the victim of a religious persecution. This is about as unfounded a mental vagary as one often comes across. If Beecher is innocent he is the victim of Tilton's personal enmity. There is not the slightest reason in the world for imagining that the pastor of Plymouth church is a martyr. A correspondent a few days ago quoted in Beecher's behalf the words of our Lord, "Blessed are ye when men shall revile you and persecute you and say all manner of evil against you," but our Lord added two qualifications to the blessing which our correspondent forgot. The blessing is only promised when the charge is false, and when it is "for my sake." The falsity of the charges Mr. Beecher has not been able to make clear. That he was persecuted for his Master's sake is about the wildest supposition that any partisan of his could make.

To confine ourselves entirely to the uncontroverted testimony it is clear that Beecher's intercourse with his female parishioners has been characterized by a want of decorum and a sloppy sentimentality that would have made any minister outside of Brooklyn intimately acquainted with the boots of some of his male parishioners. That he was never before involved in a scandal proves the peculiarity of Brooklynites. If Mr. Beecher has been harmless as a dove he has certainly not been wise as a serpent.

BELLEVUE DRAMATIC CLUB.

This club will repeat tomorrow night one of the two plays that were so warmly received at their previous performance, and will also represent a new farce, which is pronounced, by those who have seen the rehearsals, to be a brilliant and amusing affair. If the new play "The Aron Belle" is half as good as "The Jacobite" it will make up a capital entertainment; and there will be added a musical performance by Signor Agramonte, and a recitation—"The Bayonet Charge of the First Rhode Island"—by Mr. Bedlow.

The writer is not a member of the "Bellevue Dramatic Club," and speaks his unbiassed opinion in saying that the last performance of this club was far above its earlier efforts, and above the average of amateur performances. Three amateur actors so good as Mrs. Eyre, Mrs. Waring and Mr. Bedlow are rarely united in one club, and their acting is too good to miss, apart from the charitable use made of the profits.

A word as to this charitable aspect of the matter. Of course no one will claim that amateur actors or those who buy tickets to their performance are performing acts of pure self sacrifice. But it certainly does not detract from the merit of acting that it becomes the means of contributing to worthy charities; and I happen to know that the members of the club have in this case taken great pains, by economy and personal labor, to make the balance of profit as large as possible and to make the performance in the truest sense a charity. T. W. H.

DEATH OF MR. COIT.—Mr. B. W. Coit died this morning at half past six. He was born in Bristol in 1823, and educated in the public schools there. He came to Newport in 1839 and learned his trade as a carpenter and went into business. He joined the sappers and miners at the breaking out of the Mexican war. After his return he went to New York to work in the engineer's department at Fort Hamilton. He afterward came here and was elected street commissioner, in 1855, and held the office off and on until his death. He has not been conscious since the accident he met with at the corner of Touro and Spring streets some time ago.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—The fort concerts will begin next Friday.

—Landers's orchestra will begin playing at the Ocean House on Thursday.

—Mrs. Sarah A. Savage of Philadelphia has rented No. 8 of the Cliff cottages.

—The Rev. S. K. Dexter, pastor of the Baptist church in Warren, has taken a cottage at Conanicut Park.

—A disturbance was made last night on Tanner street, but it was quelled without any arrests by the police.

—Mrs. Johnston, the mother-in-law of Senator Powel, died very suddenly on Saturday.

—But few arrests were made yesterday. The police report that it was a very quiet Fourth.

—Dr. F. Maurice of New York has taken possession of the DeRham house on Bellevue avenue.

—The steamboats now touch at Conanicut Park ten tinies each day. A more frequent or better ferriage could not well be desired.

—The Rev. Mr. Lovejoy preached at the First Methodist Episcopal church Sunday afternoon and at the Thames street church in the evening.

—The steamer Martha's Vineyard from New Bedford arrived here yesterday with about 700 persons, half of whom were left here and the rest taken to Rocky Point.

—The steamer Lawrence arrived here at one o'clock yesterday afternoon with a large excursion party from New London and Norwich.

—The play of Married and Divorced was well brought out at the Opera House last night but the out door attractions interfered somewhat with the size of the audience.

—Tickets for reserved seats for the amateur performance of the Bellevue Dramatic club tomorrow night can now be secured without extra charge on application.

—The Rev. C. E. Barrows administered the rite of baptism Sunday morning to one candidate and Rev. H. N. Jeter baptized two persons at the usual place on the Point.

—An unusual amount of private celebration was done in the city last evening. Illuminations were made and fireworks were sent up from almost every neighborhood.

—On Saturday night somebody stole the sail-boat belonging to Charles L. Gifford of this city and moored at Finch, Enga & Co's wharf. He found her the next morning at Ferry wharf, badly damaged.

—The steam planing mill of Messrs. Swinburne, Peckham & Co. was made to look warlike yesterday by a field piece being placed on the roof surmounted by two American flags pointing seaward.

Among the arrivals yesterday at the Cliff Cottage Hotel were J. H. Todd of New York, J. E. Roberts and J. R. Prescott of Providence, and Mrs. S. C. Savage, C. C. Savage, H. C. Savage and A. L. Savage of Philadelphia.

—Peter Cunningham of Worcester and William A. Hennessey have been engaged by the Western Union Telegraph Company, the former at the Ocean House, and the latter at the main office, for the season.

—At the Aquidneck House the last arrivals include Samuel Kenn, Anna W. Lewis, William Sugar, J. A. Livingstone and wife, and E. W. Watson of New York, and Charles Barber of Providence.

—The Redwood band played for A. C. Landers yesterday afternoon and Mr. Landers responded with an excellent collation. The same band played for J. C. Brannan when the trades procession passed his house and the Cornet band paid the same compliment to A. C. Titus.

—A subscription race between the sail boats of Kinsley wharf was sailed Sunday night around Gont Island in which the E. O. Matthews was the winner. At the conclusion of the race a dispute arose among the men interested and a general knockdown was the result. No arrests were made.

—The latest arrivals at the Ocean House are Mrs. F. P. Foster, Miss De Rose, Douglass Walker, S. Tilghman, Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs, F. Sweetsor, J. S. Jenniss and family, A. J. Barnes, Daniel Sharp, Jr., C. Marsh (Jordan, Marsh & Co.,) and wife, and Mrs. N. M. Burnham of Boston, C. F. Fleming of Spartanburgh, Va., E. M. Rogers and wife and Mrs. Ellis and daughter of Worcester, Mass.

JUSTICE COURT.

TUESDAY, JULY 6TH.

John Cooney, a youth of some nineteen years, was arraigned this morning upon a complaint for breaking and entering the depot building and ticket office of the Old Colony Railroad Company, and stealing nickel coin to the value of three dollars, on the early morning of the third instant. His case was continued, upon motion of his counsel, one week, the respondent giving bail for his appearance for trial on the 13th instant.

A complaint against Thomas Cooney for being a common drunkard, was upon motion of his counsel, also continued for one week.

Annie J. Card, a complaint against whom as a common drunkard came up today by continuance, was finally tried, and she was adjudged to be guilty and sentenced to the state farm for six months, this being her third conviction and sentence for this offence.

Anthony Fish arraigned for the same offence was allowed one month's probation, he giving bail for his appearance, for trial, on Tuesday, the third day of August—in the meantime he has an opportunity to swim into clearer waters, if he will.

A complaint against Catherine McMahon, wife of Dennis McMahan, sworn out by Samuel H. Lawton, for an alleged assault upon his daughter, was tried this morning, and the respondent convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar and costs—from which sentence the respondent appealed.—This is a neighborhood quarrel, unfortunate in all its bearings, for all parties concerned, as all such failings out are, and the sooner both parties are out of the meshes of the law, the better for them.—Better walk up to the captain's office and settle and call it square, and hereafter strive for a moderate spirit, and let patience have her perfect work, and steer clear of the so-called halls of justice.

FOURTH OF JULY.

INDEPENDENCE DAY IN TWO VOLUMES.

RELIGIOUS OBSERVANCE OF THE REAL FOURTH.—SERMONS BY THE REV. MESSRS. KIMBALL, MALCOM AND THAYER.—MONDAY'S SHOWS.—DECORATIONS AND THE OTHER ORATION. SUBMARINE RACE.—TRADES' PROCESSION.—THE WEATHER IS DECIDEDLY UNPATRIOTIC.

The weather on Sunday was all that could be desired of a well regulated holiday and the church militant made the most of the occasion. Three admirable sermons were delivered to the Artillery and the Veterans, of each of which we give below as full a report as space will allow.

The Nation's Wariage of Today.—Sermon by the Rev. John C. Kimball.

In the morning the Newport Artillery company with full ranks, and under the command of Lieut. Col. Sherman, marched to the Unitarian church to listen to a sermon by the pastor. Back of the pulpit was hung a shield over which was draped a flag. The desk was covered with red and white flowers, and an anchor composed of red, white and blue flowers was hung in front of it. Mr. Kimball took for his text Ephesians 6:12. "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places."

It is a wise arrangement of Providence, said Mr. Kimball, though in our boyhood it never seemed so to us, that the Fourth of July should occasionally occur on Sunday. It is well to celebrate the day with the pealing of bells and the thunders of artillery, but the day has a spiritual significance that ought not to be forgotten, and that we can consider more conveniently on Sunday than on other days.

It is appropriate that the Fourth should come on Sunday in this time of profound peace so far as we are concerned. With the nation against which we were fighting one hundred years ago we are on the most cordial terms. The recent war of the rebellion has closed, and even the passions stirred up by that war are everywhere being extinguished in these glad centennial times. Spring to lay flowers on the graves of their comrades, and they are to march side by side through the future winning laurels for our common country, on whose bosom both are received as children. The object of the war has already been attained. The end of it was not ten years ago when Robert E. Lee surrendered his sword to Gen. Grant at Appomattox, but on the 17th of last month when Fitz Hugh Lee surrendered all feelings of animosity on Bunker Hill.

But we are now called upon to prepare for a war against vice and dishonesty, against treason; not to the form of our government, but to its very principles. We are not so sure of our supremacy over other nations as we were. Unsuspected vices begin to appear. Luxury and poverty are ranking themselves felt. A sectional strife is arising, not between different states, but between the rich and the poor. Official corruption in high places is common. Intemperance is binding myriads in chains more galling than any ever worn by a slave. Meanness and dishonesty leave their slimy trail over our whole social life, and besides all, and worse than all, a sordid materialism is eating into individual character and the whole social fabric.

Worse and more than this, the war before us is not one of defence but of conquest of the broad fields of growth and improvement that lie before us. All that we have yet gained is merely the capture of the outposts. The real greatness of a nation does not demand wealth or mighty armies, but it requires personal character on the part of its citizens, spirituality and an alliance with the celestial world to make a great nation. The weapons to be used in this war before us are ideas, truths and principles; the school, the church and the home; ballot boxes and private virtue; the breastplate of righteousness, the shield of faith, the helmet of salvation, the sword of the Spirit, and everything that goes to make up the complete armor of God.

Our opportunities and privileges are not granted to us merely for our own enjoyment but with them we soldiers of Christ are to strike down spiritual foes and bring all the world into the kingdom of God. The Christian church that stands aloof from this great moral warfare, the minister who says nothing of politics, virtue, temperance, and the citizen who does not throw all his moral weight into the scale against meanness, vice and corruption, is as false to patriotism and religion as are cowards and deserters to their military duty.

This war before us is as real as any conflict of arms. People too often fail to realize it, but the enemy who offers to buy our votes, or who tempts our appetites is as actual as the enemy who attacks us with the sword and bayonet. War is but the figure, the reality is the conflict of ideas. Great ideas, truths, lust and hate are real elements of all fighting. Where these meet in the dread reality of war, where one nation has been crushed by invading hosts scores have perished before their own passions and corruptions. Who does not see that credit-mobiliers, freedmen's banks, and the cheating of the Indians out of their blankets or rations are tending to break down our national manhood, and weaken our country as no redcoat or greycoat could ever do?

In this war is the fullest opportunity for the exertion of patriotism, devotion and manliness. The soldier who stands fire in God's moral war, the man who votes conscientiously regardless of derision, the candidate for office who stands on eternal justness regardless of consequences,—these are the heroes over whose deeds the hearts of God and the angels thrill.

The struggle is one in which we are bound to succeed. Hope and faith are among the grandest elements of success in this as in other causes. From the valley of the Chickahominy, the dells of Antietam and the slopes of Gettysburg spirit voices are calling you to sustain the blessings for which our last war was fought. Soldiers of your country, be also soldiers of Jesus Christ!

The music had been prepared with a great deal of care and was very fine.

The Relation of the Citizen to his Country.—Sermon by the Rev. Charles Reward Malcom, D. D.

At three o'clock the Newport Artillery Veteran Association under the command of Col. Sayer attended services at the Second Baptist church. The desk was covered with white flowers and leaves, and in front of it was a cross of red and white flowers. At each side of the desk were bouquets, and spirals of green were wound around the gas standards. Dr. Malcom took for his text a part of Mark XII:17; "Render unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's."

The Christian religion, said the preacher, distinctly teaches the duty of patriotism. A conspicuous example is given in the text. Christ demanded his disciples to be obedient to the just requirements of the government. In his psalms David sings the praises of his native land. Peter exhorts Christians to subject themselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake, and Timothy asks that prayers be made for kings and all in authority. These all teach that the citizen is bound to love his country pre-eminently.

The first, and perhaps the prime relation of the citizen to his country is that of obedience. Not timidity, not unreasoning subservience, but obedience to all the just laws of the country. But obedience is never required when it is in conflict with God's law. The glorious army of martyrs is composed of those who insisted on obeying God rather than man. It is difficult oftentimes to tell where is to be drawn the line between justifiable and unjustifiable resistance to authority. It seems to us, and we have the verdict of the world in our favor, that in the act we are now celebrating our ancestors obeyed God by destroying men.

Another relation is that of service. The citizen should be willing to use his best powers of body, mind and estate for the good of his country. This patriotism finds place among the arts of peace as well as in the scenes of war. Today agriculture, manufactures, commerce, education, can do more for the country than war can. Washington's victories at Boston, Princeton and Yorktown were not more valuable to his country than his conquests of statesmanship at Philadelphia and Mt. Vernon.—Whoever by promoting in his own community industry, education, and good morals, serves his country, renders to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's.

In the democratic country an important relation of the citizen to his country is that of an elector. It is the duty of every citizen to exercise the solemn trust of suffrage with intelligence and conscientiousness. Our country cannot survive the time when votes are sold for party bribes or cast at the command of unscrupulous leaders. Votes should be cast for the public good. For a voter to be under the whip of any party, to help friends into office, to support a candidate for the sake of promotion, these things are unworthy of a citizen and dangerous to the country.

The last and most important relation is that of personal character. We should cultivate those virtues which are necessary for the support of our country. In the sphere of home and of personal character every man may contribute to the welfare of his country.

The Lesson to be Learned from Military Discipline.—Sermon by Dr. Thayer.

At five o'clock Dr. Thayer preached to the Newport Artillery in their armory. The armory had been conveniently arranged and tastefully decorated. The singing was by a select choir of male voices and was very fine. The prayer before the sermon was made by the Rev. N. J. Wheeler of the Central Baptist church. Dr. Thayer took for his text Matthew VIII: 8; "And the centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not worthy that thou shouldst come under my roof, but speak the word only, and my servant shall be healed."

The centurion's military discipline, said Dr. Thayer, had taught him notions of authority, and respect for his superiors. The text, therefore, suggests the subject of the sermon which is the lesson that may be learned from military discipline. All our employments should teach us something more than the performance of our daily routine. We do not learn high enough lessons from our regular occupations. We are constantly being influenced by our surroundings. We may choose how we will be educated, but educated we must be. Our future destiny is the main question before us, and our trades and professions must be subordinated to that. We must use our ordinary occupations as ladders on which to rise to higher planes of life.

Good manners is the first lesson taught by the military life. If we notice the intimate connection between man's inner and outer life we shall never underrate the importance of good manners. The really good man cannot have bad manners. Think of the courtesy of the great apostle to the Gentiles. Think of the life of the one perfect man. The habit of thinking of others has an ennobling effect on us. Be gentle. Remember that roughness is not force. Good manners should be made a part of Christian ethics. Make this company a school of good manners for every relation in life. Lay not aside your manners with your uniforms. Treat all with courtesy. Use more that chivalric gentleness to women. Be reverent in the house of God, and never, never be so rude as to take the Creator's name in vain.

Teachableness is another lesson to be learned. Unteachableness is one of man's fundamental defects. Our conceit is enormous. We all think we know enough, are good enough, and we resent instruction. This is true of all departments of life, but especially true of morals. Our Lord has said "Except ye be as little children ye can not enter the kingdom of heaven." Here you are trained to be teachable. You are always reminded of something to be learned. Extend this to all departments of life. We are all of us in the awkward squad. Who feels that his work is really well done? In morals no man is severe enough on his own actual sins. Our standards should be higher, our consciences aroused. We need teachable spirits if we would build up characters.

Another lesson to be learned here is conflict. Here you are constantly reminded of war. Your training means war. Remember that social conflicts are as real as war, and even more important. Every state is fighting for existence; every soul for its future. The battle with our lusts and appetites is unceasing. We must remember that it requires harder fighting to keep than to win liberty. Are we going to elevate the degraded thousands about us, or are they going to drag us down? Are you counting the cost of the struggle before you? Are you estimating the opposing forces and distrustful of yourself? In your conscience quick to tell what is wrong? Have you that moral strength that faith in God gives;—the trust in Christ that will hold when nothing else will? Remember that when you leave the armory your real fighting begins.

Lastly, you learn here increased respect for law. Subjection to law is one of man's noblest characteristics. The question for man is not inclination, but right; not his own desire, but God's law. What we need is not natural affection, good as that is, nor religious sensibilities, but regard for God's law. The character of the soldier is that of the armed vindication of law. It is this that exalts you into preservers of civil order and defenders of eternal right. Be good soldiers, but above all be good men, be good servants of God.

After the sermon a prayer was offered by the Rev. J. C. Kimball.

Monday's Military Parade.

In spite of the lowering clouds the military and civic societies met on the Parade at nine o'clock and started off at half past nine in the rain. The procession was formed in the following order:

Police Skirmishers,
Gen. Burdick and staff,
Sergt. Flynn and Platoon of Police.
Newport Brass Band, Prof. Smith, leader, 25 pieces.
Newport Artillery,
Lieut. Col. Sherman, commanding, 90 men.
Newport Light Infantry,
Capt. Jacques, 27 men.
Redwood Band,
H. Treutner, leader, 25 pieces.
Veteran Association,
Col. Julius Sayer, 32 men.
St. Mary's Catholic Benevolent Society, 70 members.
Father Grace in carriage drawn by four horses.
Ancient Order of Hibernians,
J. Sullivan, commander, 40 members.
Knights of St. Patrick,
T. K. Lynch, commander, 18 members, mounted.

Carriages containing the city government, clergy, and other invited guests, followed by an omnibus covered with flags, full of children from the Home, and drawn by eight horses driven by S. S. Vars.

The following was the route of march:—From Washington Square to Thames street, up Thames to Bridge, down Bridge to Washington, up Washington to Walnut, up Walnut to Farewell, down Farewell to Marlboro', up Marlboro' across Broadway to Spring, down Spring to Dearborn, down Dearborn to Thames, up Thames to the Opera House where the following exercises took place:

Exercises at the Opera House.

The military companies were so wet when they reached the Opera House that they marched on to their armories. A good audience assembled, however, in the Opera House which was finely decorated. The stage was canopied with flags. A picture of Liberty was placed at the back of the stage, and over it were the words "Liberty and Union." The galleries were hung with lace curtains over pink cloth, and streamers were festooned over all. Above the gallery on

DIED.

JOHNSTON.—July 3d, 1875, at the residence of her son-in-law, Samuel Powel, in Newport, in the 77th year of her age, Catherine Cole, daughter of John Taylor, and widow of Hon'ble Robert Johnston, all of Jamaica, W. I.

The friends of the family are requested without further notice to attend her funeral at Trinity church on Wednesday, July 7th, at 5 P. M., precisely.

COIT.—In this city, July 6th, Benjamin W. Coit, in the 52nd year of his age.

Funeral notice hereafter.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC.—In the atmosphere experienced here during the Summer months, the lethargy produced by the heat takes away the desire for wholesome food, and frequent perspirations reduce bodily energy, particularly those suffering from the effects of debilitating diseases. In order to keep a natural healthful activity of the system, we must resort to artificial means. For this purpose Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is very effectual. A few doses will create an appetite and give fresh vigor to the enervated body. For dyspepsia, it is invaluable. Many eminent physicians have doubted whether dyspepsia can be permanently cured by the drugs which are generally employed for that purpose. The Sea Weed Tonic in its nature is totally different from such drugs. It contains no corrosive minerals or acids; in fact it assists the regular operations of nature, and supplies her deficiencies. The tonic in its nature so much resembles the gastric juice that it is almost identical with that fluid. The gastric juice is the natural solvent which, in a healthy condition of the body, causes the food to be digested; and when this juice is not excreted in sufficient quantities, indigestion, with all its distressing symptoms, follows. The Sea Weed Tonic performs the duty of the gastric juice when the latter is deficient. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic sold by all Druggists. jy6-1mo

Three Attainable Blessings.

A good appetite, vigorous digestion and sound sleep are three blessings that imply a good many more, and are attainable by the daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The stomach that is invigorated by that ruling tonic rapidly disposes of the food committed to it, and at the proper time craves for more with natural earnestness, and the brain from which pain and despondency have been banished by that salutary anodyne and cheering cordial, enjoys at the hour of rest that tranquil, dreamless repose for which no other boon that Providence can bestow can compensate. Besides these most desirable results, the entire physique is strengthened and fortified against the attacks of disease by this splendid vitalizer and protective agent, which, take it altogether, is the most desirable, as it is unquestionably one of the most popular medicines in existence.

In the whole medical pharmacopœia there is no medicine so well adapted for the suppression and eradication of Bright's disease, dropsy, kidney, bladder and glandular complaints, mental and physical debility, errors of youth or mature age, excessive intemperance, gravel, diabetes, pain in the back and loins, female irregularities and maladies incidental to the urinary organs, as Hunt's Remedy. This medicine never fails to produce the most beneficial results. Hence its adoption by family physicians. n&j 1t

FLOUR!
FLOUR!!
FLOUR!!!

Bread is the Staff of Life!

No article of food is so essential to health as Good Bread. The remarkable bread making qualities of

Pratt's Haxall Flour,

commend it to all housekeepers who desire a

LARGE, RICH & WHITE LOAF OF BREAD.

The patent process by which this FLOUR is made, retains all the nutritious portions of the Wheat. By the old method of manufacturing flour, a large percentage of the nutritious qualities were lost. The difference between the Old and the New method, is shown by scientific analysis, which has proved to us that by the old method, millers were barreling up the poorest portion of the grain for family use and selling the richest part to be fed to horses and hogs, or, in fact,

Skimming the Milk and throwing the Cream away.

This analysis proves that in crushing the wheat, the starchy portion, which only gives warmth to the body was floured, and the gluttinous portion of the wheat was sifted from the starch and sold as shorts and middlings. Thousands of families who have used this flour testify to its superior qualities. Over 40,000 bbls., were sold last year, in the New England states alone;

THREE REASONS WHY

Pratt's Haxall Flour

IS THE BEST FOR EVERY FAMILY TO USE.

FIRST.

It will make a Large, Rich, White Loaf of Bread.

SECOND.

Bread made from this flour is healthy and nutritious.

THIRD.

It is the most economical Flour in the market, from the fact, (which has been established by repeated experiments,) that a much larger quantity of bread can be made from this new process Pratt's Haxall Flour, than from flour made by the old method employed in manufacturing St. Louis and other flours. Pratt's Haxall flour is therefore the Cheapest as well as the Best Flour for every family to use. I have also in stock the "FAVORITE" HAXALL, GERMAN HAXALL, and other brands, all of which are reliable, and EVERY BARREL WARRANTED.

JUST THE THING FOR HOUSE CLEANING, AT

Newport Daily News.

TUESDAY, JULY 6, 1875.

one side was the legend "Prescott, Warren, Putnam; Greca, Stark, Pomeroy, Pickering, Crooks, Reed. These noble patriots who started at their country's call one hundred years ago have passed away but their memory will grow greener and blossom through the flight of ages." Opposite this were the words "Liberty and union, one and inseparable, now and forever."

Mr. A. C. Titus presided. The programme of exercises was as follows: Music by the Newport band. Prayer by the Rev. J. P. Taylor. Music by the Newport band. Reading the declaration of independence by Isaac T. Haddock of the grammar school. Music by the Redwood band. Oration by the Rev. W. F. Whitcher.

Individual Sovereignty.—Oration by the Rev. W. F. Whitcher.

Mr. Whitcher opened his oration by referring to the conflicting emotions caused by the contemplation of our country's past and future. Our country's career for nearly a century fosters our pride. She has grown rapidly and well. She has done some great deeds, has become recognized as one of the leading nations of the world, and our pride in her is not unreasonable. Our hopes are aroused. The experiment of self government which has thus far been on trial now appears firmly established and we feel that it must not be overthrown. The progress already made leads us to hope for still greater progress, but there are circumstances which arouse in our bosoms a third emotion, —fear. Fear for our country's future. We are boastful and self-satisfied and because we see North and South shaking hands over the grave of slavery and disunion we feel that all must be secure.

Other dangers than those dissipated by the late war have been for years approaching us, and today threaten us on every hand. Among these is an increasing centralization of power in general government, the tendency of which has been to eradicate the sense of personal responsibility on the part of the individual citizen. This has been perhaps in a measure unavoidable. To put down rebellion government had to be strengthened, a strong national feeling had to be developed. Sectional lines and sectional feeling were a source of weakness; indeed, the insane dogma of state rights had brought on the rebellion, and one of the results of the war was the partial obliteration of these lines, the weakening of a jealous state pride. This was indeed to be desired if it could be obtained without too great cost. But it is a question if the strengthening of the general head, the centralization of power obtained at the sacrifice of a sense of individual responsibility on the part of every citizen, was not something purchased at too large a price.

In thus strengthening government we have given it a personality of its own, have made it something separate and distinct from ourselves, have seemingly forgotten that under our system, we the people are the government, that there is no head except such as we create and no power vested in any federal head except such as is by the people expressly delegated, that there is no conscience and no responsibility apart from our own. We have seemingly forgotten that we are the sovereigns, that government is only the machinery by means of which we manifest our will, and that administrations and officers are our servants owing allegiance to us, instead of our owing allegiance to them.

The consequence of this is, that when abuse and wrongs are ripe, we throw the responsibility of them on government. We acknowledge our obligations to moral law and to right in everything except our political relations. Government has become a law unto itself and our political conscience is something separate and distinct from our private conscience. We thus separate politics from the sphere of virtue and morality and religion. So we have the spectacle of men who in their private capacity are sound and upright, who acknowledge their obligations to moral law, entering the sphere of political life, leaving personal responsibilities behind, and making what they call government responsible for their action they give their sanction to and execute laws and measures which their private moral sense condemns, the question of right resolving itself into that of expediency.

Now politics is a noble science, but this absolving politicians from personal responsibility, this exaltation of the machinery which we call government at the expense of the citizen, this endowing it with a life and conscience apart and separate from that of the individual, while it may conduce to a seeming outward prosperity, to seeming strength, is yet something which threatens our national life and furnishes just cause for alarm. It leads to carelessness concerning duties and personal responsibility. It leads us to trust ourselves, and our dearest interests to the keeping of immoral men, men who never see deeper or further than what shall serve themselves, and who turn the trust we repose in them to that end.

The great interests of the republic thus remain at the mercy of partisan intriguers, or the transient gusts of popular opinion.

We so dissociate politics from our other interests, that we unhesitatingly place men in important positions of trust, whom on no consideration would we admit to our private confidence or our homes. Those men flatter us and we flatter ourselves that they are our servants, but once secure in their place and in the manipulation which will keep them there, they laugh at our protests or our petitions. Our theory is that our public men are our servants and that we are sovereigns —but the fact is we are afraid of them. There is no tyranny more galling —more degrading—more fraught with mischief than the tyranny which the moral cowardice of the American people has placed in the hands of its public men. And this is the natural consequence of our attempt to build up a strong central government, giving it a personality apart from that of the sovereign citizen. The law of conservation of force holds good in governments as elsewhere. Increasing power in the general head weakens the individual.

Now unless we apply our individual morality to political life, no matter how high and pure it may be it is valueless as regards our national preservation. What avails private purity if there can be no government undertaking without scandal? And we know that whether it be a Vienna exposition; a Presidential campaign, a Freedman's Bureau, a Washington treaty, a Pacific railway, or Indian policy—every undertaking has its scandal. There is always suspicion.

Individual intelligence and integrity avail us little so long as incompetent or dishonest or blundering men obtain among us the first places of honor and trust.

And the great crimes that are going unpunished, the prostitution of the great principles of law and justice to the mere higgle of skillful counsel, the unblushing audacity of what are popularly termed rings—the selfishness of overgrown corporations, the open nullification of the most solemn enactments, these being so increasingly common among us, do toll of incompetency and corruption in official positions, of a canker that is eating out our life; they do speak loudly of a greater need than a strong centralized government without principle and without conscience.

If we are indeed a nation of sovereigns we can not detach the responsibility of these things from ourselves. As one of our modern poets and satirists has said

> "If you take a sword and dror it
> An go and stick a feller thru
> Guvment aint to answer for it
> God will send the bill to you."

And while we may say that the causes of those evils lie in our system or in parties, or in leaders. If our theory of government be true, we can not avoid the conclusion that they lie with us,—we can not avoid the responsibility. We make that which we allow. And men in place and position dare because we the people, we as individuals permit.

Now these common evils of the present day are the outgrowth of the centralization of power in a general head, which detracts from our feelings of responsibility as citizens, and creates in us an easy good nature as regards public affairs an easy good nature with which we look complacently on evils that degrade us in the eyes of nations; turning to our possessions, our gain, our personal ease as if these were the only things of concern to us. An easy good nature, did I say? it is not good nature, it is rather bloated moral sense, seared moral consciousness, fatal moral deliorantion.

The great need of the age is a returning to first principles. The fundamental principle on which our government was founded was the sovereignty of the citizens. It was this principle that caused the foundation of the colonies. The declaration of independence and the constitution of the United States are contained in embryo in the covenant entered into on board the May Flower in 1620. Our ancestors kept power in their own hands. They kept the state their creature. They made public officers serve their constituents. Powers not delegated they retained in their own hands. This principle forced at the expense of union leads to disunion, becomes treason, but not less so is the insisting so on union as to lead to centralization at the expense of individual responsibility.

The possession of power inspires responsibility. Without intelligence power cannot be properly used nor can responsibility be fairly recognized. The ignorant of our own and many other nations and the multitude of the enslaved have been enfranchised. They must be educated. Otherwise they are not fitted for positions among the sovereign people. But this is not all. As the American citizen is not responsible to any higher human power than himself he ought to recognize his responsibility to God. The American citizen should be a Christian citizen. We all believe that a glorious destiny awaits our nation, that her past is only a feeble prophecy of her future. Let her people remember that they are sovereigns, with sovereign duties. Let them be intelligent,—above all let them be Christians, and failure in the realization of her high mission is impossible.

After the oration the exercises closed with music and the benediction.

The Submarine Race.

At half past twelve a large crowd watched the novelty of a submarine race between the divers of John Waters & Co., wreckers, and the Coast Wrecking Company. Each man pulled a boat in which was an air pump and one attendant. The course was from Commercial wharf to Bowen's wharf where each diver was to come to the surface, and return. Waters's man, John Conery won in twelve minutes and forty five seconds beating Haggerty, the New Yorker, by three minutes. The latter seemed to lose his way, and wandered around while the winner made a bee line for his point of destination. The winner received a prize of $30.

Second Annual Regatta.

On account of the rain but seven boats entered. They were all entered in one class and two minutes per foot time allowance on the distance, about twenty miles, was made. They all anchored in line, west from the end of Long wharf and slipped their cables at the discharge of the gun. The course was from the end of Long wharf north to the Bristol ferry light ship, going east of Gould Island and west of Dyer's Island, rounding the light ship from east to west, returning south keeping west of Dyer's Island, and east of Gould Island, west of Rose Island, west of Goat Island around the buoy at the south end of Goat Island, then returning north through the inner harbor to the end of Long wharf, where the time was taken.

The whole passed off pleasantly and all appeared to be well satisfied, but somewhat surprised at the result, as it was supposed that the Julia would take the third prize.

Below is the actual time without the allowance.

The Base Ball Match.

At five o'clock in the afternoon a match game of ball for a silver cup was played by the Aquidnecks and the Hoolechooloos. The former were victorious by a score of 30 to 12.

The Decorations.

The state house, city hall, and Opera House were showily but tastefully decorated with flags and streamers. Ramsden's building was decorated with an eagle, crossed cannon and festoons of bunting. Four lines of flags were hung across the north side of the Parade. Carl's place and J. M. K. Southwick's store were very handsomely trimmed. The governmental building showed several flags and a quantity of bunting was hung out between Cottrell's block and A. C. Titus's store. The residence of William J. Swinburne was also finely decorated. Several of the vessels in the harbor were trimmed up in good style. The best of these were the yachts Wanderer and Palmer and the wrecking schooner Young America.

The Trades Procession.

The rain stopped before noon and during the latter part of the day the sun alternated with the fog. The threatening weather, however, had the effect of frightening a good many persons who had intended to be represented in the trades procession. The procession included many excellent displays, but was much shorter than had been expected.

The procession moved at 2½ o'clock promptly over the following route: up Bellevue avenue to Bull street, down Bull street to Broadway, up Broadway to Bliss Road, countermarch down Broadway to Spring street, down Spring street to Touro, down Touro to Washington Square (at which place the procession was reviewed by the mayor and the city council) around the stand at foot of Parade, up the Parade to Farewell street, up Farewell to Marlboro', down Marlboro' to Thames, up Thames to Bridge, down Bridge to Washington, up Washington to Walnut, up Walnut to Thames, down Thames to Dearborn, up Dearborn to Spring, up Spring to Mill, up Mill to Touro Park, where the procession was reviewed by Marshal Burdick and aids and dismissed.

Salutes.

The Artillery Company fired national salutes at sunrise and noon, and the bells were rung at sunrise, noon and sunset.

The Evening.

In the evening the Newport band played on Washington square, fireworks were displayed and Ramsden's and other places were illuminated. The Cornet band played at Equality park and the Redwood band at Touro park.

Excursions.

Steamers from New London and New Bedford brought hundreds of people here on excursions. The Providence boats were crowded, and 1600 persons from Fall River and this city made an excursion to Block Island on the steamer Providence.

Thanks.

To the committee of the city council, Gen. Burdick and efficient aids, the public are grateful for a celebration that was marred only by the weather.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as Boschee's German Syrup for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the Breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted, can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by James H. Taylor.

The entertainment by the Bellevue Dramatic club which is to be given at the Opera House next Wednesday evening, July 7th, is in behalf of our local charities, and we trust it will be liberally patronized. Tickets and reserved seats will be for sale at the Opera House each day this week from 11 A. M. to 8 P. M. at $2 each, and on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week any seats not sold may be reserved at $1.

It Beats All.

of his subjugation, and how long the affair might have halted no one can tell, had not Fate, as she often does, taken the matter into her own hands.

"My brother is coming down for Sunday," said Alice, one morning.

"Have you a brother?"

"Oh, yes. Have we never told you about him? Poor boy! It is his first vacation this Summer. We have wished for him so often, and now at last he can come."

John watched the sisters curiously as they made ready for their walk to the depot that afternoon, but he did not offer to accompany them. "Lucky fellow!" he muttered with a sigh, and fell to gnawing his mustache, sure sign of uneasiness and emotion.

By and by they came back, each holding an arm of a broad shouldered, merry faced youth, who walked between with face of entire contentment.

"My brother, Mr. Singleton," said Alice, in her gentle voice, as John rose to greet them.

"Happy to know you," said the new comer, shaking hands cordially. "The girls have talked about you till I feel as if we were acquainted. I say, what a beach! Can't we have a sail this evening, Flossy?"

John started as if shot.

"I thought your name was Marion," he said confusedly, starting like one in a dream.

"Yes, so it is," she answered carelessly; "but my middle name is Florence, and Tom called me Floss always when we were little. He does now sometimes."

"You really must leave it off," said Alice. "Flossy is absurd for a grown-up person."

"I'm rather fond of it," remarked Marion; "it doesn't sound absurd to me at all."

"It's beautiful!" jerked out John, still absorbed in the suddenness of his surprise. Marion looked at him, astonished. He felt himself blush under her gaze, but offered no explanation, and the subject was dropped.

The real and the ideal rarely combine in life. When they do, only one conclusion seems possible. Events flow rapidly after this eclaircissement. The course of true love has intervals of smooth running, for all the poets may say to the contrary. The bright hunter's moon of that year looked down upon two extremely happy people, and when Christmas gladness dawned on earth it found them happier still.

It was on the first delicious evening spent in their new home that John broke silence and told the tale of his treasure-trove. They sat together by the fireside, and Flossy turned the worn pages of the diary with a tender touch.

"Dear shabby old thing!" she murmured. "Yet it brought us together!"

"And to think how I searched for you in all the shops of the city!"

"Shops? Oh, I didn't go to the shop, you know. Aunt Marion died the very week after I wrote that, and left me two hundred dollars because I was named for her. I felt so rich to be able to take Alice to the sea shore. How little we guessed, when you came, and we grew to be friends, that all that time you had my old diary in your pocket!"

"And how little I guessed that the 'Flossy' I had hunted for and dreamed about was close at hand! You'll make me Tom's pudding some day, won't you, although 'apples are expensive?'"

Marion raised the little green book to her lips and kissed it. Then she kissed John.

Scrofulous Catarrh Cured.

LETTER FROM

MRS. JAMES STOPFORD, OF NEW BEDFORD.

(From Providence Journal.)

To the Editor of the Journal:—

DEAR SIR:—Will you please print this letter in the Journal, that everybody may know of my great cure, and the afflicted be able to be benefited by the knowledge. Scrofulous Catarrh of the worst form afflicted me several years and everything I tried to do for it did no good. My throat was badly diseased and a portion of the roof of my mouth was destroyed. Large quantities of green yellowish matter, mixed with blood, came from my head and throat, which was nauseating and disgusting in the extreme. I could scarcely talk so as to be understood, had very little appetite, and when I had, could not swallow anything except very soft food, and my health was greatly reduced, and I was failing fast, when last Spring I read in the Journal about the cure of Mrs. F. Bryant, of Fall River, by Dr. W. H. CARPENTER, at 51 Dorrance street, Providence, which gave me hope, for I thought if she could be cured of Catarrh and Scrofula after a part of her nose and throat was destroyed, there was some hope for me. So I went to Providence and placed myself under Dr. Carpenter's treatment, and thanks be to God, I am cured of that dreadful disease. My head and throat are both well and sound. No discharges or soreness. My appetite is good, my health wonderfully improved, and in truth about as good as ever, which greatly surprises my friends and neighbors, who thought I could not be saved, and that I was foolish to go away from home to be doctored, but since my recovery several of them have gone themselves to Providence to be doctored by Dr. Carpenter.

Shall be pleased to impart any information respecting my case to any person interested, if they will call at my residence. MRS. JAS. STOPFORD,
51 Austin street,
New Bedford, June 17

Newport Testimony.

STATEMENT OF MR. G. F. RICKETSON OF TIVERTON.

Mr. Editor:—Please state my case in your paper for that such cures can be performed, should be known. Catarrh with all its disagreeable symptoms afflicted me for years and until dyspepsia and indigestion resulted. I was fast running down for I could not eat anything that agreed with me, and I did not know what to do for folks said "Catarrh could not be cured, and you are foolish to throw away your money," &c., but I had to do something and I went to Dr. Carpenter. He cured me, I have been perfectly well the last few months, and have no reason to think, I shall ever have any more trouble of that kind. I want it known for so many persons think Catarrh cannot be cured.

GEO. F. RICKETSON, 2d
With Capt. Joseph Church, Tiverton.
Newport, May 15, 1875.

TESTIMONY OF MRS. JOHN W. DAVIS

OF NEWPORT.

My grandson, Burnside, (son of Mr. Benjamin Davis) was sadly afflicted with Catarrh. Besides the annoying and disagreeable symptoms usually accompanying this loathsome disease, his memory was becoming impaired. He paid little attention to what was going on around him, or what was said to him; did not take much interest in anything, and was gradually losing his hearing. We felt that something must be done to save him, and therefore placed him under Dr. Carpenter's treatment, which proved successful and satisfactory. He is restored to health, both mentally and physically, and to use his own words, is "A NEW MADE BOY." We feel it a duty to make the case public, that others may know where they can obtain relief from that dreadful disease. MRS. JOHN W. DAVIS.
Bay View avenue, April 29th, 1875.

STATEMENT OF MR. G. E. HULL.

This may certify to Dr. Carpenter's success in treating my daughter who had become so deaf from catarrh that we were obliged to speak very loudly to her, to make her hear us. We found that she might become totally deaf, the way she was going on. Dr. C.'s treatment has removed the catarrh and deafness to such an extent, she can now hear a whisper. This case is well known in Jamestown, where we reside.
G. E. HULL.
Newport, April 15th, 1875.

Mr. Arnold's Card.

DR. CARPENTER,—Dear sir: your treatment for chronic catarrh in my case has been successful, although the complaint was of some years standing and had begun to impair my hearing. I think I am perfectly cured and recommend similar sufferers to apply to you. I reside in Jamestown.
F. A. ARNOLD.
NEWPORT, R. I., April 1st, 1875.

Testimony of Captain Hammond of Newport.

W. H. CARPENTER, M. D.,—DEAR SIR:—Allow me to thank you, through the NEWS and JOURNAL, for the great benefits conferred upon me by your treatment for Chronic Catarrh. Five weeks ago, when I consulted you, I was prostrated and nearly worn out with that terrible disease. Under your treatment I began to improve at once, and in two weeks was able to resume my employment, and have continued to improve up to this time. Yours Sincerely,
J. F. HAMMOND,
Newport, March 18, 1875. No. 5 Brinley street.

TESTIMONY OF MR. F. M. HAWLEY OF PROVIDENCE.

(From Providence Journal.)

W. H. CARPENTER, M. D.—Dear Sir: Your treatment of my wife for Chronic Catarrh has been attended with the happiest results, and I deem it a duty as well as a pleasure to tender you our thanks publicly that other sufferers may be induced to apply to you. We believed the disease incurable, and should not have consulted you had not a friend informed us of the success that attended your treatment of her, in a very aggravated case. Yours gratefully,
FREDERICK M. HAWLEY;
With J. B. Barnaby & Co., corner North Main and College streets,
Providence, April 6th, 1875.

CERTIFICATE OF MR. JOHN CASWELL.

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 12, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF NEWS:—I wish to recommend Dr. Carpenter's treatment to such of the community as have Scrofula. I inherited it, and it has always run in my blood, and last Fall it became terrible, injuring my health, and attacking my head and face particularly and so disfigured me that a neighbor that met me did not know me until I spoke to him. I applied to Dr. Carpenter, at the Perry House, and his medicines have met with gratifying success. My health is now good, have very little trouble with the humor, face looks natural, and I hope with a little more treatment, to eradicate the poisonous humor from my system entirely. I reside in Middletown.
JOHN CASWELL.

Catarrh and Polypus.

Home Testimony.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 6th, 1874.

This is to proclaim what Dr. Carpenter has done for me. I suffered from Catarrh 40 years, and the last 10 years my nasal passages were filled with Polypus. I employed physicians from time to time, and two years ago, went to Boston, and was doctored there three months, and left off worse than I began, and I was almost discouraged. But I felt that I must do something, for I was obliged to keep my mouth open and my health was becoming impaired. So I went to Fall River last Spring, and placed myself under the care of Dr. Carpenter. His treatment proved highly satisfactory. He removed and cured the Polypus, I can breathe naturally, the Catarrh troubles me very little and altogether I am comfortable and as well as a man 64 years of age, can expect to be, and I hope this testimony may be the means of securing relief to other sufferers. I reside in Middletown.

Lawn Mowers.

THE NEW

CHARTER OAK

LAWN MOWER.

It is a model of beauty, very compact, beautifully finished and mechanically made; and, to those desiring a wheel Lawn Mower, we will say that you will find the "CHARTER OAK" far superior to any other of this class of Lawn Mowers, as it is far more durable, easy to adjust, operate, and keep in order, also by its driving wheels being inside of the frames, it enables the operator to cut the grass clean around walks, drives, flower-beds, trees and shrubbery.

We Warrant it in Every Respect.

FOR SALE BY

FINCH, ENGS & CO.,

my17-tf NEWPORT, R. I.

LAWN MOWERS,
PHOSPHATES, &c.

The subscriber asks attention to the ARCHIMEDIAN as the Standard Mower on the market. The mistake of past years in using SHOES instead of wheels had given it the reputation of a hard working machine. At my suggestion this was remedied last year by substituting wheels, and my large sales in consequence has established it as the most desirable of all. As a horse machine it has no equal, and I can refer to six of our suburbans using them with the confidence of support from them, and as far as I know I sold all that was sold here in 1874. While I make this my standard, I mean that my patrons shall have their choice, and can give them any other kind in the market, and it should be borne in mind that I protect the goods I sell by the facilities for repairing, sharpening, &c., making this a specialty. I am offering good second hand mowers from $5 to $15, and so am prepared to supply the entire trade of the Island at as low prices as in other cities, or as any other dealer.

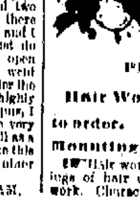

I would urge the advantage of WILSON'S PHOSPHATE, as a top-dressing for lawns (giving a quick, rich green) as a garden or hot house fertilizer, and can warrant that it is not composed largely of fish guano, worth $12 per ton on the market, or mother earth worth less; once in use it will be as highly appreciated for the above purposes as by our farmers who buy it by the ton as an economical manureal investment. Five tons more on hand this day, with bone and other fertilizer constantly in stock. The season is cold and late, worms will be hungry, help the crops and they will you.

CORCORAN'S SELF-REGULATING WINDMILL, For Pumping or driving machinery, up to forty horse power. Especial attention is called to this power as superior, and an economical saver of labor, with reference to Col. George E. Waring, Philip Caswell, Esq., and George P. Lawton, of Newport, using them. It is appropriate for the purposes of pumping for dwellings, barns and green houses, as turning our coast breezes to mechanical utility while it invigorates our health as well. Please call on us at

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston.

AFTER AN EXTENSIVE PRACTICE of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with despatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents, of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of Inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents; as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
